

Neelam Kumar

Former Professor, AcSIR & Scientist, National Institute of Science, Technology and Development Studies, India

Title of Presentation: Women's STEM participation in India and related policies:
The current situation

Neelam Kumar, received her Ph.D. from Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi. Her research interests focus primarily on the psychology of science. She worked as a scientist with National Institute of Science, Technology and Development Studies. Her research findings reveal the significance of gender in the structure of Indian scientific institutions and prompted her to write papers and edit two books: Women and Science in India, Oxford University Press, 2009 and Gender and Science: Studies across Cultures, Cambridge University Press, 2012. Kumar has also organized an international conference in India in 2004 called Is the Glass Ceiling Disappearing? Kumar has been member of editorial boards of several journals such as International Journal of Gender, Science and Technology and Journal of Psychology of Science and Technology. She has been Visiting Scholar/ Professor LSE, London and York University, Canada among others.